Set within the iconic Wakefield Gardens Heritage Precinct, on one of Ainslie's most cherished streets, this charming late-1930s brick cottage is brimming with potential and perfectly positioned to enjoy the very best of the Inner North.

The home itself remains largely in original condition, showcasing period features that define the heritage charm of Ainslie including high ceilings, solid timber floors, and terracotta roof tiles, providing the ideal foundation to create your dream residence full of character and warmth.

Nestled on leafy Ebden Street, celebrated for its stunning autumn colours, and surrounded by parkland, you'll feel a world away from the city while remaining effortlessly connected. Just around the corner, the Ainslie Shops offer everything from a family-friendly IGA to a beloved pub serving your morning coffee and evening drinks.
