Walk Everywhere from Watkinson

There is something about this one. It's not flashy for the sake of it. It's thoughtful. It's finished. It feels good. The second you walk through the door, you can tell someone has poured care into every decision. This is not a surface refresh, it has had a full internal renovation. The walls have been opened to create proper flow between the living, kitchen and dining. The kitchen is generous with loads of cabinetry and black fixtures done right. Bosch dishwasher. And a coffee nook that makes mornings feel organised instead of chaotic. But what I love most? They kept the soul. Ornate cornice. Original architraves. Character doors and frames. All preserved beautifully. Modern convenience layered over timeless detail. Downlights throughout, mostly aluminium windows, woodfire for winter ambience and a Daikin reverse cycle to keep things practical. And then we step outside. This backyard is a whole mood. A lined, powered outdoor rumpus with a large Centennial Hot Drum woodfire. Sliding doors opening straight onto a roofed deck fitted with pull-down shade blinds. It's the kind of space where adults gather and kids disappear into their own world. The grass? Ridiculous. The kind of lawn that makes you want to take your shoes off immediately. There is a single garage, workshop, garden shed and lean-to all within the secure backyard. Everything has somewhere to live. No clutter. No compromise. The exterior is
