The bathroom is thoughtfully designed with a double shower and bench seat, along with a separate bath—perfect for both relaxation and practicality. With both front and rear entry points, the home is designed to capture natural light and cooling breezes throughout.

Adding incredible value and versatility is a separate building on the property. Previously operated as a laundromat, this fully self-contained space includes its own bathroom and kitchenette, offering endless possibilities. Whether you envision a teenage retreat, guest accommodation, extended family living, or even a home business, the choice is yours.

Both the main home and the secondary dwelling enjoy their own well-sized, fenced yards, providing privacy and space for outdoor living. With a little love and vision, this charming Queenslander can be restored to its former glory and transformed into something truly special.

A rare opportunity to secure a character home with so much potential—this is one not to be missed.
