

Hyde Park, 48 Bayswater Road

A Family Treasure, Ready for Its Next Chapter

There's a certain type of home that seems to hold onto the warmth of the people who've lived there.

You feel it the moment you step onto the wide timber deck out front. It's the kind that runs the full length of the house and has likely seen more than a few late afternoon cuppas, birthday parties, and quiet Sunday mornings.

This grand old Queenslander has been loved by the same family for nearly 40 years.

It's not just a house, it's a home that's raised kids and hosted big family dinners. (Yes the formal dining room has, and does fit a 12-seater table) and been the backdrop to decades of memories.

But with the kids grown and life moving on, it's time for the next chapter.

Step inside and you'll find rich wooden floors, four generous bedrooms, and not one but two separate studies (perfect for those working from home), or simply needing a little breathing space.

The heart of the home is the central living area, with bedrooms thoughtfully positioned around it to give everyone their own retreat.

The kitchen is big, beautiful, and built to last - crafted from solid wood with elegant white benchtops and high-end Miele appliances.

Best of all, it overlooks the rear deck and the private backyard, so you can cook while keeping an eye on the kids or simply enjoy the lush, established gardens.

Downstairs is fully concreted and open, it's a blank canvas for whatever you need it to be: workshop, games area, home gym, or just heaps of storage. And with two driveways out front, there's no shortage of access or parking.

The block is a full 810m², giving you room to grow, play, or just enjoy the serenity of your own garden oasis.

And with a large solar system already installed, it's a smart choice in a sunny place like Townsville - especially with energy costs on the rise.

This is one of those homes you feel, not just see. But don't just take my word for it - come walk the deck, stand in the kitchen, and picture your own family dinners here.

Opportunities like this don't come around often, be quick or you'll miss out!
