size bed, shower ensuite, comfy couch, air conditioning, ceiling fan, easy-care tiled floors, and feature glass louvres that invite in the tropical breezes.

The adjoining one-bedroom apartment delivers even more space, featuring a practical galley-style kitchen with breakfast bar, generous lounge area and a large, breezy balcony overlooking one of the resort pools.

The private main bedroom is a real standout, enjoying an unusually secluded position rarely found within the resort, while the ensuite has been recently renovated with the spa removed and replaced with a stylish new shower.

When you're not enjoying the comfort of your own apartments, Portsea offers an impressive array of resort facilities designed to keep holidaymakers coming back, including three resort pools, pool bar, tennis court, games room, day spa, BBQ areas and direct access to Four Mile Beach (approximately 300 metres).

And when you're ready to explore, the local shuttle makes getting into town wonderfully easy.

Currently operating as a successful private rental/Airbnb with no existing lease agreement, the property provides flexibility for the new owner to decide how they want to use it.

Keep it as a holiday rental and capitalise on the dual-key configuration, use one side and rent the other, or simply enjoy the entire property whenever you escape to Port Douglas.

Positioned in the quieter part of the resort, with a generous balcony, pool outlook, private bedroom configuration and a beautifully presented throughout, this is an opportunity that offers considerably more than your average resort apartment.
