HIDDEN ARCHITECTURAL GEM IN A RAINFOREST OASIS ?

Privately tucked away on a battle-axe block this architecturally designed residence is a truly remarkable example of 1970's style and expression.

Almost completely hidden from the street and set on an expansive 3,611sqm block, the home is a peaceful and private retreat that feels like your own secluded oasis.

As you arrive, the scale of the property is a wonderful surprise. The grounds open up to beautifully established Australian native gardens, creating a tranquil natural rainforest setting that has been thoughtfully maintained and curated over many years.

There are timber boardwalks and bridges which meander through the gardens, ferns and established trees.

The result is a retreat which blends seamlessly with the bushland reserve at the rear providing a haven for an abundance of bird life.

You could be in a remote enclave and yet you are just moments from the schools, shops and amenities of popular Warners Bay.
