

1-2/32 Jackson Street, West End

Double whammy

The situation is vacant here, so this is a ripe opportunity to renovate an older home that many years ago became two.

You could either live in the front and tidy the back one-bedroom unit, which has a lounge, dining area, and tidy kitchen and bathroom, with the addition of some double glazing, and a tidy oven and rangehood. The front unit is a larger size, all recarpeted, with a tidy oven and rangehood, and has been painted throughout recently. The interior is perfectly functional; it's a good investment or suitable for extended families.

You will need to address the outside of this property, but overall it is a get-stuck-in project. Main jobs include preparing and painting the outside, fixing the carport, and grooming the section - stating the obvious here.

Paint it up and restore it to a nice-looking, attractive property. Of course, being in a good area, you may want to look at the section itself - possibly new builds? These multi-dwellings are almost a thing of the past.

Book a viewing, throw ideas about, see what you can do.
