

29 Estate Street, West End

for Low to Mid $600,000's you need to look at this!!

There's something special about a home that has stood the test of time and this beautiful Queenslander cottage tucked away in a quiet West End street is certainly one of them.

Built around the turn of the century this gorgeous three bedroom home has recently been brought back to life through thoughtful renovations that have carefully preserved the beautiful original features that make these older Queenslanders so special.

From the moment you arrive there's a sense of history and character that you simply don't find in modern homes. As you step inside you're welcomed by a lovely enclosed front veranda with beautiful French doors and a private sitting area. It's easy to imagine enjoying your morning coffee here or simply relaxing with a good book while taking in the peaceful surroundings.

As you wander through the home you'll discover the stunning 3.5 metre ceilings in the central living area which really give you an appreciation for the craftsmanship of years gone by. There's a lovely warmth throughout the home with each room offering its own little reminder of the history and character that has been preserved.

One of my favourite features would have to be the kitchen. It's a beautiful combination of traditional charm and modern practicality with gorgeous hoop pine cabinetry, granite benchtops, subway tile splashbacks and a large five burner stainless steel gas cooker. There's even a rare original mantlepiece which adds another wonderful piece of history to this already charming home.

Something else that makes this property quite special is the unique breezeway style dining area that connects the kitchen wing to the main residence. It's one of those features you don't often come across and creates a lovely space to sit down with family and friends while enjoying the character of the home.

The heritage charm continues into the bathroom where a beautiful claw foot bathtub takes centre stage. It's another lovely feature that perfectly complements the home's original character.

Outside you'll find a fully fenced 405sqm allotment with a private shady yard offering a peaceful place to relax or enjoy a little time outdoors. There's also a handy lockable storeroom attached to the home providing some extra practicality.

What I really love about this property is that the renovations haven't taken away from what makes it special. So often we see older homes lose their original charm through modern renovations but that's certainly not the case here. The beautiful heritage features have been retained and the thoughtful updates have simply given this lovely old Queenslander a new lease on life.

Being tucked away in a quiet West End street only adds to the appeal. It's a wonderful opportunity to own a little piece of Townsville's history in a home that has already stood proudly for more than a century.

If you've been searching for something a little different from the everyday home then this could be exactly what you've been waiting for. With three bedrooms, beautiful original features, generous living spaces and a wonderful sense of history there's so much to fall in love with.

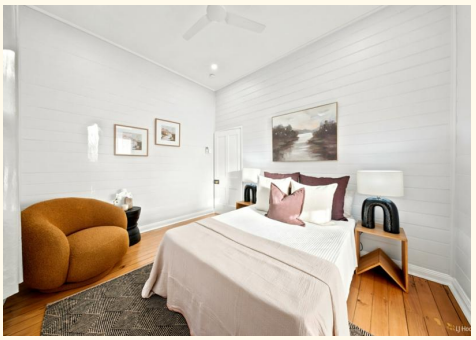

Homes like this aren't just about the bedrooms or the size of the block. They're about the character, the craftsmanship and the stories that have been created within their walls over the years.

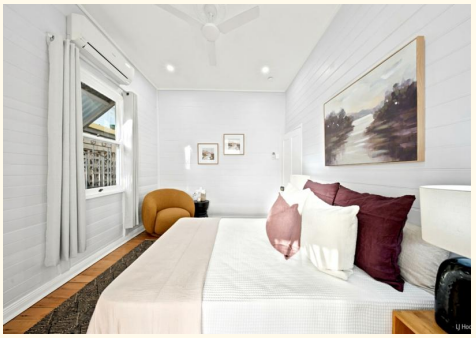

Now it's time for someone new to come along and write the next chapter in this beautiful West End Queenslander's story.

Come and see for yourself what makes this one so special.
